The table below shows the range for an auction bid and the corresponding Bid Increment. For example, if the next acceptable bid is $30, this would be in the range of $25 - $50 and the Bid Increment is $0.50. If you bid on the item, you will enter an amount of $30 (or higher) setting a limit for a Proxy Bid. If no one has a proxy higher than $30, then the next bid will be $30.50. If a Proxy Bid beats your bid, then the next acceptable bid would be $30 + $0.50 = $31.00. If the next acceptable bid happened to be $50, the Bid Increment would be $1.00. The Bid Increment will continue to be $0.75 until the bid exceeds $100.

Min Bid	Max Bid	Bid Increment
$0.00	$25.00	$0.25

What are the bid increments?

Any new bid must be greater than the current high bid. The additional amount you're required to bid depends on the price of the item being auctioned. (In other words, bid increments are determined by the item's price.) For example, if you want an item with a current price of $11, then you must bid at least $11.50 (See also automatic bidding.)

The table below shows the required bid increments for Yahoo! Auctions:

Price of Item	Increment
$0.01-$0.99	$0.05
$1.00-4.99	$0.25
$5.00-24.99	$0.50
$25.00-99.99	$1.00
$100.00-249.99	$2.50
$250.00-499.99	$5.00
$500.00-999.99	$10.00
$1,000.00-2,499.99	$25.00
$2,500.00-4,999.99	$50.00
$5,000.00 and up	$100.00

The bid increment cannot be changed by the seller or the bidder. The bid increment will only be changed as the current high bid increases.

To place a bid over $500.00, you will have to sign up for Yahoo! Wallet.
